

China's Impact on Regulation and the Culture of Business

CENTRE FOR BUSINESS LAW

China's influence within the global economy has been intensifying. Once a country with a guarded acceptance of international standards, China is now actively seeking to change them. Its role as a rule taker, rule maker, and norm shaper has had ripple effects on the regulation of trade, technology, human rights, and the culture of business itself, including here in Vancouver. This panel of leading practitioners and scholars will discuss how China is changing the trajectory of local and international business standards, and what lawyers can do to better prepare and navigate this shifting geopolitical and legal landscape.

Panelists include:

Ljiljana Biuković
Professor, Allard School of Law

Pavan Jawanda
Partner, Business Law Group,
McCarthy Tétrault LLP

Guo Li
Professor, Peking University Law School

Pitman Potter
Professor & Director of Chinese Legal Studies, Allard School of Law

Jack Yong
Partner & Leader of the China Initiative,
Lawson Lundell LLP

Carol Liao
Director, Centre for Business Law
Assistant Professor, Allard School of Law
Panel Moderator

JANUARY

14

TUESDAY

5:30pm
to 7:00pm

Reception to follow

McCarthy
Tétrault LLP
745 Thurlow St
Suite 2400
Vancouver, BC

RSVP to cblassistant@
allard.ubc.ca

This event also celebrates the book launch of Good Governance in Economic Development: International Norms and Chinese Perspectives, edited by Sarah Biddulph and Ljiljana Biuković

The Centre for Business Law is co-hosting this event with:

CENTRE FOR
ASIAN LEGAL STUDIES

ALLARD
SCHOOL OF LAW

THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

